RAF HITS RUHR 4TH NIGHT; ITALIANS AWAIT INVASION

BOMBS BRING EVACUATION OF RHUR CITIES

Mass Movement of Families Ordered as Result of 180 Heavy Raids by Allies.

By The Associated Press

BERN, Switzerland, June 15—Swiss newspapers received here reported the evacuation of cities in western Germany was under way today as a result of 180 heavy raids by British planes and 600 air fleets.

The Nazi press is engaged in an effort to impel rural residents to open their homes to refugees.

Hard-bombed Duesseldorf, target of a recent 2,000-ton RAF attack, one of the chief cities being evacuated, the German papers said. Communiques from Berlin have reported very heavy damage there.

Not only the bombed-out families but those yet untouched by the explosives are being moved out, Das Reich said. Men are left behind to work.

Evacuation Plan

The evacuation scheme as announced by Das Reich was this: Persons in northern Westphalia (the Ruhr region) will go to Bavaria. Those from Berlin will go to Brandenburg, East Prussia and Pomerania. Those with relatives in other districts may have permission to join them.

"The more difficult the housing and supply problems become, the more necessary it is for those who can to leave the cities," Das Reich said. "The evacuation not only saves lives but assures those who remain behind a more adequate air raid protection, better transport facilities, better food and supplies."

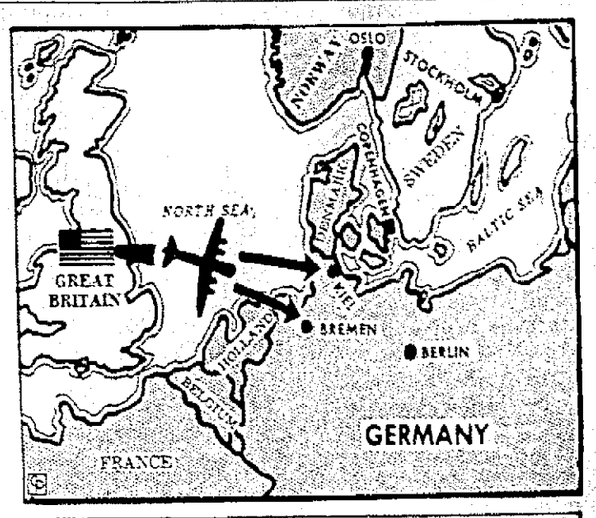
Reichsmarshal Hermann Goering's Essender National Zeitung said that five uninterrupted months would be required as of May 15 to construct emergency housing in Essen, rubbled home of the great Krupp munitions works.

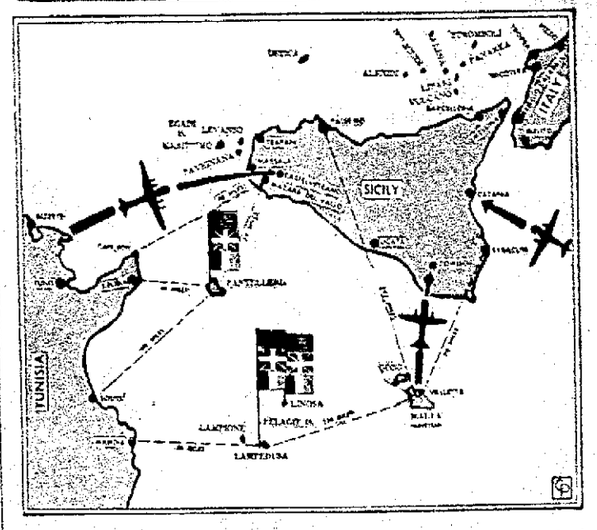
Say Evacuation Only Solution

Essender National Zeitung said that 10,000 persons were bound to Essen by work and must be given new homes, but that for many others, evacuation to the country is the only solution.

(The reports from inside Germany recalled the recent addresses of Prime Minister Churchill and the statement of Major Gen. Ira C. Eaker of the Eighth U. S. Air Force that Germany might be bombed into submission. The heaviest attacks have been concentrated in the Ruhr section of Westphalia and on north Germany. The Germans are unable to move their heavy industries such as coke ovens, blast furnaces, coal and iron mines out of the "bomb alley.")

One Berlin dispatch complained of country hotels seeking to avoid serving evacuees on the pretext that they had no bed linen and insufficient labor.





AXIS BLASTED 24 HOURS A DAY. Both Germany and Italy are receiving the heaviest aerial blows of the war as allied air forces carry out 'round-the-clock bombings of both countries. Map at top shows how U. S. Flying Fortresses blasted the German naval bases at Kiel and Bremen, where the bulk of Nazi submarines are built. Meanwhile, following occupation of Pantelleria, Lampedusa and Linosa islands in the Mediterranean, lower map, the allied forces transferred their 24-hour-a-day blasting to Sicily as reports were received that civilians were being evacuated from the island to the Italian mainland.

ITALIANS TOLD ALLIES GETTING SET FOR THRUST

Report Allied Warships Massing in Sicilian Strait; Fourth Island Falls.

By The Associated Press

LONDON, June 15—A Rome radio commentator, in a broadcast recorded here today, told Italians to stand by for an Allied invasion.

"Our men are ready at their guns, our planes are ready and our sailors are on the watch" for the "decisive phase approaching," he said. "Every Italian is ready to fight and fight until final victory is achieved."

London newspapers today quoted the Rome radio as saying that Allied warships and transports are massing in the Sicilian strait following Allied occupation of the tiny island of Lampione, the last of four islands in the channel to be wrested from Italian control.

Inhabitants Flee

A Reuters dispatch from North Africa reported the capture of Lampione yesterday, saying it fell on Sunday. The island's inhabitants—a few lighthouse keepers—were reported to have fled.

The German news agency DNB, in a Berlin broadcast said today that axis air attacks were continuing against the Allies' potential invasion fleet in the Sicilian strait.

German bombers damaged a landing craft and six medium transports off Pantelleria and in the harbor, DNB said, and also reported that heavy bombers attacked Bone on the Algerian coast last night.

Axis planes have engaged Allied convoys in "a battle which has now lasted for three days and has not lost any of its violence," the London Epress quoted the Rome radio as saying. The newspaper said the battle was reported to be in progress in the triangular are between Malta, Bizerte and the Sicilian coast.

Claim Barges Sunk

The Daily Herald quoted a German broadcast as saying that the Allies had massed at Bizerte "a large concentration of means of disembarkation" which were being hampered by German planes. At least 20 landing barges were sunk during a raid on the harbor, the broadcast reported.

Axis radio commentators continued to speculate on where the next Allied blow would fall, with the consensus favoring Sicily and Sardinia and the majority believing the attack would come this week.

Some London military commentators, however, declared that the Allied plans are "far ahead of schedule" and recalled that southern European weather provides a long campaigning season—implying there probably would be a pause in Allied activity.

Pay Raises Sought by Firemen and Policemen

Ask Council To Increase Salaries $20 a Month; Request To Be Taken Up at Conference Monday Night.

Pay increases of $20 a month were sought by city firemen and policemen at a meeting of city council last night.

If granted, the requests would add $14,880 a year to the city's payroll, there being 38 firemen and 24 policemen now employed.

Council agreed to the departments' request that the pay increase proposal be considered by council as a whole rather than by one or more of its committees, and set next Monday night for a meeting to study the salary requests.

Spokesmen for both departments cited increased living costs and the upward trend of wages in many lines of work. Stuart F. Jones was spokesman for the fire department, Clyde Hardin for the police department. Both presented formal petitions in addition to explaining their requests.

Base pay of men in both departments is $162.50 a month, including a $10 a month increase granted last Jan. 15. Captains get $10 a month additional.

Mr. Jones, in presenting the firemen's plea, declared living costs have increased about 40 per cent in the last two years, and that other cities had increased firemen's pay from 15 to 20 per cent. Mr. Hardin likewise cited increased living costs and added that uniforms policemen must purchase have gone up, along with other livingcosts.

Other matters before council included:

A letter from C. W. Luse, renewing his complaint about juvenile gambling in Marion and asking for the immediate resignation of Safety-Service Director C. C. Caldwell for alleged failure to perform his duties.

Enactment of an ordinance authorizing final payment for 226 parking meters which have been operated so far on a lease basis.

Receipt of a complaint from the city garbage and rubbish department workers that council's agreement with the workers had not been fulfilled. Council promised a committee meeting with the workers and said further action will be taken if the present agreement is not executed as council intended.

Presentation of a series of complaints about street, sidewalk and catch basin conditions in various parts of the city, along with a general complaint because Safety-Service Director Caldwell did not attend

SAYS U. S. SUB POWER GROWS

Knox Reports 8 Lost Have Been Replaced Many Times; Jap Toll Hits 256.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, June 15—Secretary of the Navy Knox reported today that the eight American submarines reported lost so far in the war have been replaced "many times over."

The secretary's disclosure at a press conference followed Navy announcements yesterday United States under-sea rovers have sunk 12 more Japanese vessels and damaged five for a total to date of 256 enemy vessels destroyed or damaged.

Knox was asked when the present "lull" in large scale combat would break up.

"I can't tell you," he said, "except that it takes an awfully long while to get ready for any kind of sizeable movement."

He did not amplify what he meant by "sizeable movement."

The secretary said the increase in the American submarine fleet—which is known to be operating primarily in the Pacific—was attained as a steady growth rather than as any sudden building up of the force.

Another factor explaining the increase in ships destroyed as indicated by yesterday's announcements was due not only to the increase in the number of American vessels on duty, Knox said, but also to the fact that "our men are learning the trade right along."

In another graphic disclosure, the Navy told how one of its submarines slugged it out with a Japanese submersible on the surface and sank it.

These fresh triumphs cushioned—and avenged—loss of the submarines Amberjack and Grampus which the Navy said last weekend were missing with their crews and presumed sunk.

"KING" OF LAMPEDUSA. Here is Sergt. Sidney Cohen, the 22-year-old Royal Air Force pilot who "captured" the Italian island of Lampedusa in the Mediterranean from the Italians, hours before the formal capitulation to British landing forces. Cohen, now being dubbed the "King of Lampedusa" by his mates, was flying a Swordfish plane on a sea rescue mission when he ran out of gas and was forced to land on the island during a bombardment. An Italian officer approached his plane and announced he wanted to surrender. He led Cohen and his buddies to headquarters where a certificate of surrender was handed to him.

OBERHAUSEN IS TARGET OF NEW AERIAL BLAST

Steel and Coal Center Gets Rain of Bombs; British Lose 18 Planes.

By The Associated Press

Germany's home front shook under a violent new storm of bombs before dawn today—the fourth night assault in a row—as RAF heavyweights blasted a fiery trail of havoc among Nazi war foundries in the Ruhr.

A British air ministry communique said the main attack fell upon Oberhausen (pop. 110,000), an important steel and coal center on the Rhine, 35 miles north of Cologne.

At the same time, swarms of lighter RAF planes bombed, cannonaded and machine-gunned railways, water transport and airfields just behind the Nazi-occupied "invasion" coast from Holland to northern France.

Eighteen RAF planes were listed as missing.

In the Mediterranean, enemy broadcasts again asserted that allied warships and transports were massing in the Sicilian straits, ostensibly preparing for the grand assault on southern Europe, and declared the fleet was under heavy attack by axis warplanes. Confirmation from allied sources was lacking.

Mediterranean Battle

The Rome radio was quoted by the London Express as saying that "a battle which has now lasted for three days and has not lost any of its violence" was raging in a triangular area between Malta, Bizerte and the Sicilian coast.

DNB, the German news agency, asserted that Nazi bombers damaged six allied medium transports and a landing craft off Pantelleria. A previous Berlin broadcast said at least 20 landing barges were sunk at Bizerte harbor among "a large concentration of means of disembarkation."

Other developments at-a-glance:

Russia—Red armies crush tanked German drive to recapture four villages in Orel sector, big guns duel from Leningrad to Rostov fronts.

Greece—10-day axis drive fails to smoke out Greek guerillas from mountain strongholds, patriots scorn ultimatum to surrender.

Southwest Pacific—Allied bombers drop 30 tons of explosives on Japanese base at Rabaul, New Britain; three other enemy strongholds attacked.

Washington—Navy announces 12 more Japanese ships, including a destroyer, sunk by American submarines in Pacific.

Burma—American and British bombers pound Japanese in widespread raids.

Axis commentators, nervously speculating on where the next allied blow would fall, named Sicily and Sardinia as the likeliest targets and a majority predicted the attack would come this week.

Swiftly following the conquest of Pantelleria, Lampedusa and Linosa, the tiny lighthouse isle of Lampione, eight miles west of Lampedusa, was reported to have been captured without opposition Sunday.

Invasion-jittery Italians received new jolt to their mounting fears today as the Rome radio warned them to stand by for an allied landing, and declared:

"The decisive phase is approaching."

With axis alarms ringing to peak intensity, allied bombers continued their deadly softening up attacks on Italy's immediate outer defenses, centering their heaviest blows on Sicily off the toe of the Italian mainland.

RAF Hits Oberhausen

The RAF's front line heavy bombers made another mass attack on Ruhr objectives last night, concentrating particularly on the important steel and coal city of Oberhausen, three miles west of Essen, and another big formation of planes, possibly American, roared across the channel today.

Coast observers said the daylight attackers were headed southeast.

As the big bombers rumbled toward the continent, two formations of allied fighters already were returning from a breakfast-time sweep of the Pas de Calais area, where they shot down three Focke-Wulf 190s out of the formations of 15, presumably setting out to harass the British coast.

It was announced officially that 18 bombers were missing from the Ruhr forays, the fourth consecutive night's assault by the RAF on Germany. The night's activities included mine laying in enemy waters.

The Oberhausen raid was the third reported by the RAF on

At that time taxpayers were urged to pay the full year's taxes, thereby conserving time as well as gas and tires.

GUADALCANAL BOMBED

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, June 15—Japanese bombers dropped "a small number" of bombs on Guadalcanal Sunday night, the Navy reported today, but caused no losses to material or personnel. Guadalcanal had last been reported attacked on the night of May 23. The Navy gave no information on the location of the action in which the reconnaissance bomber was damaged.

Stilwell Emphasizes Big Job Ahead in Crushing Japanese

Calls Enemy Savage and Numerous; Declares "We Will Have a Hell of a Hard Job Ahead."

CHUNGKING, June 15—Lieut. Gen. Joseph W. Stilwell returned from Allied strategy conferences in Washington today and said "I feel that we will have a hell of a hard job ahead" in crushing Japan, but declared that the United Nations were thoroughly determined to do the job as soon as possible.

During the Washington conferences, Stilwell told correspondents, "China was thoroughly considered and her needs gone into at length."

There was, he said, a constant interchange of information between Allied leaders in China and those in charge of the southwest Pacific operations on the common task of defeating Japan.

"We have a savage enemy and there's plenty of him" Stilwell emphasized. "There'll be a lot of hard fighting but we are thoroughly determined to get after him."

More Supplies in Sight

Asked if more supplies were coming to the Orient, Stilwell replied, "the clearing of the Mediterranean will ease up the shipping situation considerably."

Allied action in the Orient, he declared, had been and would continue to go coordinated.

He praised the support which the Chinese forces on the Yangtze front have been getting from the 14th United States air force.

It may now be disclosed that Maj. Gen. Claire L. Chennault, commander of the 14th Air Force, who went to Washington with Stilwell, arrived back in China on June 4.

Impressed by African Job

Stilwell said he was struck by the work done in North Africa, by the obvious efficiency of the Allied operations there and by the enormous amount of material that was abandoned by the axis and which littered wide areas of the battle fields.

Stilwell said he was very much impressed with the spirit of the people back home in America.

"They are accepting rationing and pitching into the war," he declared. "Everybody's playing the game. The country is united, determined and cheerful. We are going to see this thing through."

Home-Town Made Automatic Phones Now Serve Galion

GALION, June 15—Galion citizens not only have a new automatic telephone exchange, using it today for the first time, but they are proud to be using one that is manufactured in the same town.

The latest type all relay automatic exchange is made by the North Electric Manufacturing Co. of Galion and gives the city its first dial phone service.

The cut over from the old style commercial telephone system, a 20-year-old exchange took place shortly after 10 o'clock Monday morning.

Mayor William Amann made the first official call, talking from one part of the commercial office to Postmaster W. V. Goshorn, who was in another part of the building. The call was recorded at 10:00 p. m.

While no elaborate ceremony was planned, the cut over did draw top flight officials of the company and all district managers, who were here in addition to officials of the North Electric Manufacturing Co. and engineers of the plant.

The Galion office is a part of the Northern Ohio Telephone Co. system, the company having 49 exchanges in operation from Toledo to Akron all of the Great Lakes islands south to Delaware. It is the largest independently owned company in the state.

Family in Marion Gets Air Salute From Flier Son

Marion got its first glimpse of what a plane of the type purchased by patriotic countans in a month-long countywide bond selling campaign last month can do in the air yesterday when a Marion youth saluted his family in a 15-minute series of simple manuevers.

In the plane, a four-motored giant of the sky commonly referred to as a B-17, was Sgt. Eugene McGinnis, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ivan McGinnis of 480 South State street and one of three brothers now in the armed service. Sgt. McGinnis, a gunner in the waist of the death-dealing machine, was on his way to an undisclosed east coast base.

Three hours before the plane arrived over Marion Mr. and Mrs. McGinnis received a telegram from their son telling them that he expected to be over Marion later in the day. The plane was first seen at 3:15 and was last seen shortly after 3:30.

Soon after it was first seen a handkerchief to which was attached a short note addressed to Mr. and Mrs. McGinnis was dropped from the plane. It lit near the Standard Oil Co. station at the corner of South Main and Columbia streets and was taken to the McGinnis home by Dick Putney of 283 Pearl street, an employe at the station.

On the handkerchief inscribed in ink was his parents' names and address. In the attached note he said hello and said he hoped the note would be taken to his folks if it landed near their home.

Sgt. McGinnis spent a three-day furlough with his family two weeks ago.

Shoe Rush Continues; Stamp 17 Expires Tonight

The rush of Marion residents to make use of their No. 17 shoe ration coupon before it expires tonight continued today after shoe merchants had been obliged in some cases yesterday to admit customers to their stores in small groups.

Yesterday's rush of buyers swamped some stores, making it necessary to close the doors temporarily while merchants and their clerks waited on customers already inside.

The plan of admitting small groups was used in some stores today as the rush continued.

EXPECT FATHERS TO STAY UNTIL OCT. 1

Draft Officials Indicate They'll Not Be Called Till Then.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, June 15—A possibility the drafting of fathers may be delayed until around Oct. 1 was indicated by selective service officials today as they moved to speed the induction of 18-26 year old childless men now deferred on occupational grounds.

This effort to hold up the fathers' draft well beyond Aug. 1 was disclosed in instructions on the filing by employers of schedules covering occupational deferments.

Another move toward deferring the father draft was seen in testimony before a house committee that the calling of family heads might be set back some weeks by the lowering of Navy physical requirements enabling induction of many men previously rejected.

The new instructions suggested for the first time that fathers be listed for occupational deferment on schedules filed after July 1, but that they should not be listed unless the work-deferment was sought for some period extending beyond Oct. 1.

ANTI-SEDITION STATUTE HELD UNCONSTITUTIONAL

High Court Rules on Mississippi War-Time Law.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, June 15—The supreme court yesterday held unconstitutional a Mississippi war-time anti-sedition statute which outlaws oral statements or the distribution of literature "which reasonably tend to create an attitude of stubborn refusal to salute, honor or respect the flag or government of the United States or of the state."

Justice Roberts delivered the unanimous opinion, applying specifically to members of "Jenovah's Witnesses" convicted of violating the legislation at Canton, Columbia and Vicksburg.

"The statute as construed in these cases," Justice Roberts said, "makes it a criminal offense to communicate to others views and opinions respecting governmental policies, and prophecies concerning the future of our own and other nations."

R. E. Taylor was alleged to have told two women at Canton, who had lost sons at Pearl Harbor, that it was "wrong for the President to send the army across, for they are just being shot down for nothing."

CAN'T KEEP GRANDMA IN HER CHAIR
She's as Lively as a Youngster—Now her Backache is better

Many sufferers relieve nagging backache quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys. The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

"American Womanhood's Noblest Opportunity for National Service"

The WAAC

Women of Marion and vicinity! Your country is conducting a nation-wide drive for enrollment in the Women's Army Auxiliary Corps. President Roosevelt has ordered that the WAAC be increased to the full strength authorized by Congress — 150,000 women. Because this drive is of major national importance it is imperative that every woman of eligible age and qualifications investigate the opportunities to serve your country offered by the WAAC. In the WAAC you will draw the pay of a soldier of equivalent rank. You will wear a smart uniform while on duty. You can qualify for vocational training that will stand you well in civil life after the war. Because the tremendous expansion of the WAAC has created an enormous demand for officers, there is an unusual opportunity for promotion from the ranks.

IF YOU ARE A MENTALLY ALERT WOMAN BETWEEN THE AGES OF 21 TO 44 YEARS of good character and reasonably good health . . .

ENLIST in the Womens' Army Auxiliary Corps

Be the woman behind the man behind the gun! Release a fighter-trained Army man from non-combatant duty . . . so that the gun he was trained to fire . . . may blaze its way toward swift victory!

There's ample reason for the difference in DIAMONDS

In the first place, diamonds are not created equal. Some of them have much better clarity and color than others. Then, there is a big difference in the way diamonds may be cut. If not cut expertly, much brilliance may be lost.

If you'd like to know more about diamonds, drop in and have a talk with our diamond experts. There is no obligation. They'll be glad to show you the difference in diamonds and help you in any way they can.

Food Is a Weapon

Get Ready . To Can, Dry or Freeze Garden Surplus

Our Money Is A Weapon, Too Lend It In WAR BONDS

One of our best weapons is in the hands of the women on the home front—the Soldiers of the Kitchens. For two reasons not an ounce of food may be wasted. First, the distribution system is overworked and shipping food from place to place will add an unnecessary burden. Second, great quantities of food must be provided for our armed forces and allies so, by helping ourselves we help them.

ROOSEVELT REBUFFED ON TWO QUESTIONS

Senate Bill Voted and NYA Cut Despite Requests.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, June 15—The ... of the White House met ... side reception on two ... questions before congress ...

President Roosevelt's ex... in the senate passed, ... and sent to the house the McKellar bill requiring senate confirmation of most federal employes who earn more than $4,500 a year. The administration has contended the idea is unworkable and Mr. Roosevelt tagged the bill "a tragic mistake." Nevertheless it went through with only eight Democratic votes against it.

At the same time, the house appropriations committee used a paring knife on a New Deal Agency, the National Youth Administration (NYA), deciding it had outlived its usefulness. A sum of $40,800,000 to continue the NYA for the next fiscal year was stricken from the federal security agency supply bill with orders that this unit wind up its affairs by the end of this year. For this, the NYA was given only $3,000,000.

Appropriations also concerned the senate. With the McKellar bill out of the way, leaders prepared to take up the $226,105,755 appropriation bill for the state, justice and commerce departments. It contains a provision for $33,940,356 to train civilian pilots.

Another congressional effort to win President Roosevelt's support for creation of a one-man boss for the food situation was put forth by a group of house agriculture committee members.

James F. Byrnes, director of war mobilization, dashed cold water on a similar proposal by five senators and four house members yesterday.

There Are No Miracles

DAY by day this is becoming the era of disillusionment for the American people. It may be the best thing that ever happened.

We have believed too long and too much in miracles, blue fairies and Santa Claus. We have talked too big, too loud and too long. We have done great deeds, but have not understood what was entailed in the doing. The era of disillusionment is going to shake us down to a solid foundation of reality for future thinking and talking.

Three things that only a short time ago were widely misunderstood we see clearly now:

That mass production is the result of trial and error, engineering genius, capital and labor, natural resources, management, and a vast amount of services and skills being grouped over a period of years and applied intensively to solve a production problem. There is no black magic in mass production. It is compounded of hard work and hard thinking. Willow Run has taught us that.

That international security is no stronger than its weakest link and must be maintained, therefore, by ceaseless attention to the strength of its component parts. Americans thought France was insuperable. They were told that Singapore was too strong to be taken. They had been encouraged to believe that their navy could rout Japan's navy in two weeks. At the same time, they believed Russia was weak and of slight consequence. They have a whole new concept of international security now. It will be a long time before Americans take anything for granted again.

That the United States is subject to the same ghastly consequences of misgovernment that have cursed nations Americans have pitied for their chronic shortages of commodities and their inferior standards of living. America's high standard of living has not been the gift of the blue fairy, but the result of free enterprise and initiative operating in an atmosphere unfavorable to the malignant growth of paralyzing political control.

If the war didn't produce anything else but these three realizations, it would be more than worth what it is going to cost.

Nervous Indigestion

THE department of agriculture's reappraisal of 1943 crop prospects will bring on a national attack of nervous indigestion, but it is well to remember that nervous indigestion is usually the result of mental anguish and strain, rather than an actual shortage of food.

Not even the government, which gets blamed for almost everything, can be blamed because in much of the United States there was too much rain in May. Nor can the government be blamed because wars invariably affect farm labor adversely.

In short, a reduction of crop prospects in 1943 is a probability that must be dealt with like any other wartime adversity. Certainly it is not justification for recriminations. Contrary to the Gloomy Gusses, the American people are not going to starve.

The net effect of the new outlook probably will be to stimulate planning for maximum food production in 1944, subject to the vagaries of the weather. Whatever unnatural difficulties remain to interfere with food production must be removed, of course, and that will be the aim of Food Administrator Davis and congressional critics, already being heard from. The ordinary citizen, meanwhile, can redouble his Victory Garden activities, fortified now with the certain knowledge that every mouthful of food produced by his original effort is a net asset in the agricultural war of production.

Missing the Point

THE striking similarity between the views of Norman Thomas in a recent radio broadcast and the views of many government spokesmen concerning the socialization of all or most national activities after the war suggests that Mr. Thomas might properly be taken into the cabinet.

Both he and the New Dealers are having more and more trouble missing the main point; it is something like trying to ignore a concert grand piano in a 12x14 living room. That is the fact private enterprise has regained all the confidence in its ability to get results that its unfriendly critics destroyed from 1933 up to the afternoon of Dec. 7, 1941.

War production hasn't been the result of socialization. It has been the result of turning loose private enterprise on a national emergency, with some of the hobbles loosened and the curb bit slacked off a trifle. A country that has been pulled out of a hole by private enterprise isn't likely to leap at the chance to turn against it the instant the war has been won and the panting socialists and bureaucrats rush in to demand the credit.

It's far more likely that the people may conclude in their slow but infallible manner that if the government would allocate a billion dollars a year in peacetime to encouraging private enterprise, instead of concentrating on giving it a black eye and a headache, the postwar job could be done twice as well at considerably less than half the price the socializers are expecting to collect for their dubious services.

News Behind the News

Recent Successes First in Which Chinese Enjoyed Superior Air Force.

By PAUL MALLON

WASHINGTON, June 15. The Significant things about the recent Chinese successes on the central front is that they should the first time in which the Chinese have enjoyed a superior air force over their ground troops.

The secret-clapped, unrevealing communique from Chungking, therefore, immediately made disclosed that the Chinese at last have put into the field a modern air force of size.

In fact Major General Chennault, the great American fighter, has been able to accumulate a superiority for raids upon specific localities, particularly in the south, but he always had to operate on a hit and run basis. Never in all the five years of China's struggle have our troops been able to get air protection from the terrorizing scream and demoralizing attacks of the Jap dive bombers in battle.

This time, the Chinese strafed the Jap retailers and troops. The turn of air affairs in China should bring a sharp improvement of morale among the ground troops.

Aside from this phase, however, it is necessary to report that the successful Chinese actions do not indicate the imminence of a general Chinese offensive.

The Japanese general at Hankow, who has about eight divisions under his command on the central front (roughly about 120,000 men), decided to strike out for food, without receiving reinforcements from Tokyo. His objectives were to seize storehouses of rice and press into the mountains, exploiting any military advantages he could find.

The attack was not an all-out offensive on his part either, but the Chinese were able not only to resist his advance successfully. They forced him to retreat even behind the last line he had marked off for retirement in case his plan went wrong.

Jap Effort Lags

What has happened to the Japanese war effort? Here it is now exactly a year since the last Japanese major operation (attack on Midway June 30. The large Japanese Army and Navy have done nothing momentous in 12 months. Particularly, Tokyo has failed to develop any of the promised and threatened lines of attack.

It has not reinforced its occupation army in China sufficiently to start a general drive. Its big army in Manchuria has been sitting on the Soviet border inactive.

Indeed, this army disregarded the golden opportunity presented last summer when its ally Hitler was hammering at Stalingrad, and the Soviets were so hard pressed that Stalin had to withdraw troops from the Manchukuo front.

The promised thrusts at Australia and India have not been made, nor has any threat been made to Alaska.

Has anything happened internally to the Japanese war machine to demoralize it and make it break down? Has the lack of merchant shipping prevented Tokyo from organizing new drives? Has the Japanese air force suffered so severely as to require its reorganization?

Authorities here do not know the answers to these questions, but the strange continuing status on the far Pacific front affords room for heavy doubts that the Japs have everywhere accepted a defensive strategy voluntarily.

Significance of Pantelleria

Never before Pantelleria raised the white flag has any island fort or stronghold surrendered to air attacks. Such capitulations always have been made before to surface, land or naval assaults.

Malta held out for years against intermittent axis bombardments, although these were nothing like the intensity of the final 48 hours of the fortress bombardment of Pantelleria. Corregidor fell only after the Japanese made a successful landing in force.

The spot of Pantelleria itself amounts to little in our scheme of military affairs. It has only one airfield, which will help us in providing more combat plane protection for bombing the Italian mainland, but this phase of its capture is not significant.

The real importance is the suggestion of what may now be done in Italy and elsewhere on the continent. Any small place of our choosing apparently can be made untenantable by the concentration of our air power.

This power is vaster than anything known before in bombing war, and perhaps can continue to bring results beyond any known before and beyond our former expectations.

Stamps In the News

New Issue on Sale June 22 to Honor Poland.

RADICAL departures from long observed rules regarding United States five cent stamps mark the commemorative issue honoring Poland's resistance to the Nazis. The stamp, first of a series of eleven which will be issued to commemorate opposition to axis over-run countries of Europe, will be placed on sale in Washington and Chicago June 22.

The Polish stamp, illustrated here, will have a purple background instead of the usual blue that has distinguished United States stamps of this denomination for many years. The flag of Poland will appear in its red and white colors as the central design to add two more distinctive features. It will be the first time that the flag of another nation has appeared on a stamp of this country and one of the few times that more than one color has been used on a U. S. stamp.

At the left of the central flag subject is pictured a phoenix, the mythical bird which to the Egyptians symbolizes renewal of life, while at the right is the figure of a kneeling woman with chains dangling from each wrist to portray the breaking of the shackles of oppression and enforced servitude. Both figures are supported by pedestals in which the denomination of the stamp appears. The post office department announcement said that the stamps will be printed by the American Bank Note company of New York "to take advantage of their special multi-color printing equipment."

Chicago was selected along with Washington as the site for first day sales. Postmaster General Walker said, because of its large population of persons of Polish descent. Collectors desiring first day covers may send a maximum of ten addressed envelopes to the Postmaster at Washington, zone 13, or Chicago, zone 7, with cash or postal money order to cover the cost of the stamps. Each cover should be pencil-marked in the upper right corner to show the number of stamps to be affixed and enclosures of medium weight should be placed in each cover and the flaps turned in or sealed. Requests for uncancelled stamps should not be included with such orders. Uncancelled stamps may be obtained at the Philadelphia Agency in Washington.

Other stamps of the series will honor Czechoslovakia, Norway, Luxemburg, the Netherlands, Belgium, France, Greece, Yugoslavia, Albania and Austria. All will be of five cent denomination and will picture the flag of each country as its central subject but whether the same general design will be used for all eleven stamps has not been disclosed by the post office department.

Mexico has issued a colorful set of three postage and three airmail stamps to commemorate the 400th anniversary of the founding of the town of San Miguel de Allende in the State of Guanajuanto. The regular postage values are printed vertically and are of two, five and ten centavos denomination. The airmail are printed horizontally in 20 and 40c and one peso denominations. All bear the inscription in capital letters "IV Centenario De La Fundacion De San Miguel De Allende, GTO. 1542-1942." Five picture buildings of this inland town of approximately 13,000 population and the sixth, the 10 centavos postage issue, bears a full-length portrait of Generalissimo Don Ignacio Jose de Allende y Unzaga, Mexican patriot who was born there.

From News of Other Years

TEN YEARS AGO.

It was Thursday, June 15, 1933.

Colonel Leonard P. Ayres, nationally known Cleveland economist, declared that industry, trade and transportation were expanding "with a vigor never before equalled." He added that "what this country needs most just now is to be saved from its rescuers," for "this recovery does not now need the additional stimulation of artificial credit expansion, great public works financed by huge government deficits, bonuses paid to farmers, or the federal promotion of irrigation and power projects."

Grant E. Mouser Jr. gave the address at a Flag Day service held by Marion lodge of Elks in the Chautauqua pavilion, following a patriotic program including music by the Marion Symphony orchestra.

James M. Cox was elected chairman of the vital monetary committee by the steering committee of the world economic conference in session in London.

France and Poland again defaulted on their war debt installments to the United States while Great Britain and Italy arranged partial payments.

Miss Mary Jo Stafford of Hane avenue was in Cleveland to visit Miss Eleanor Smith, a classmate from Ohio Wesleyan university.

Misses Betty Mann, Virginia Shipley and Alma McDaniel were among the Ohio State university students who had returned home for the summer vacation.

It was announced that Judge Grant E. Mouser would speak on "Our Problem" from the common pleas court viewpoint, at the annual convention of the Ohio State Bar association at Cedar Point, July 12.

This was the final day for filing declarations of candidacy for the city primary election Aug. 14. Most of the contests were on the Republican ticket. George W. Neely being the only candidate for the Democratic nomination for mayor. Candidates for the Republican nomination were O. A. Benedict, Gilbert V. Paschall, A. D. Mitchell, M. L. Buckley and Carroll W. Davidson.

Members of the four railroad brotherhoods and their auxiliaries arranged for a picnic to be held at Garfield park on July 19.

NOW WAITING FOR THE OTHER BOOT

In Defense of Maligned Middlemen

From Barron's Financial Weekly.

A COMMITTEE of the house of representatives has been ordered to make a thorough investigation of the nation's food distribution system, and is planning to send sub-committees around to various marketing centers to make first-hand studies. The group is headed by Rep. Fulmer, Democrat of South Carolina, who has proved himself to be an intelligent legislator. Therefore, he and his co-members are likely to find out and admit how wrong are his preconceptions, as expressed in the following quotation ascribed to him by a press association:

"Unless I am mistaken, we will be able to show that most of the food dollar goes to the middleman, a leech-like link that can be eliminated by streamlining our food distribution system."

That is an ancient misconception, which has probably been with us ever since big cities began and will probably live as long as they do. It is sometimes stated in another form, as in the following hoary bit of nonsense from so able a defender of capitalism as Eric A. Johnston, the most articulate and likable president the Chamber of Commerce of the United States has had in many years:

"We have mastered the art of mass production. It now remains for us to master the art of mass distribution, so that the products of our magnificent industrial machine may be ever more widely spread among all our people."

IN THE first place, Mr. Fulmer, the middleman is as necessary as your hand—or somebody's hand—in getting the spinach from the farmer's soil to your mouth in the city of Washington. In the second place, Mr. Johnston, we have not mastered the art of mass production, any more than had the people who expressed the same belief half a century ago. And, in the third place, improvements in the art of distribution during the past 50 years or so have been just as great as the improvements in production methods.

Who is the middleman? Contrary to the understanding of most people who use that term, he is not just a grasping merchant who buys from farmers and sells to other merchants. That middleman is only one of many. The others include the driver of the truck which carries the produce from the farm, the worker in the flour mill, the employe of the quick-freezing plant, the brakeman on the railroad which takes the food to the city, the builder who put up the wholesale market to which no housewife has the time or inclination to go, the butcher behind the local meat counter and the boy who delivers the groceries (many of these are members of unions). If Mr. Fulmer can figure out how to eliminate more than one of these, he will indeed have streamlined the distribution system.

In some towns, community food lockers are being set up to keep food on hand in wholesale amounts for individual families. That is a new system which saves some money. But the lockers must be bought and then they must be kept cold enough. And when papa takes out that side of beef, he generally has to get a butcher to cut a roast off it.

IF MEMORY serves, sometime during the period of high prices caused by World war I the city of Buffalo figured out a plan to make food cheaper for its good citizens. Marketing ordinances were relaxed in such a way as to encourage farmers to come into the city and sell their produce direct instead of though middlemen. The newspapers hailed the project with almost lyrical joy. But it soon became evident that the trouble with the scheme was that the farmers wouldn't come. They didn't have time, for one thing. The experiment did not last long. So much for Mr. Fulmer.

Of Mr. Johnston's two erroneous, or at least exaggerated, statements, the first one has already been dealt with. The art of production is still undergoing improvement.

As for the art of distribution, would he not call the refrigerator car, which we accept without thinking today, but amazed our grandfathers, a major improvement? How about food canning and quick freezing whereby the country boy's zestful pleasure in fruit right off the bush can be reproduced on the tenth floor of a Chicago apartment?

The fact that these modern improvements bring food to the city in palatable condition is not their only important achievement. The other point is that they fit good eating to the average family's purse. Otherwise there wouldn't be so many people in the cities. They couldn't afford it.

ANOTHER major improvement in our distribution system has been the device of purchases on the installment plan. Without it, we could never have distributed automobile ownership among half the families in the nation—an achievement whose scope would be quite incredible were it not for the undeniable fact itself.

And what about advertising? Most people think of it as an expense. But the fact is that without advertising not nearly so many products would have been bought by this nation of avid consumers. Therefore, the products would not have been made, and since production is wealth, the United States would not have been so rich.

The all-important point which Mr. Johnston seems to have missed is that any cost reduction, whether it occurs on the production line or in the process of distribution, helps make things available to more people. And our ingenuity, stimulated by the system of capitalism which Mr. Johnston has so tellingly championed, is constantly finding new ways of cutting costs, all along the line from the mine and the field to the city store.

The Turps

By DAMON RUNYON

Joe Survives Aerial Bombs in North Africa But Insists on Keeping Story from Ethel.

Joe Turp Writes From North Africa:

DEAR SIR Well I suppose you are wondering what has become of me as I have not had time to write to anybody for quite awhile even my wife Ethel and besides I am in the hospital only don't tell her as right away she would think it was something a million times worse than it is and want to sue the army.

I wrote her a long letter this morning but I didn't tell her just what happened to me as the doctor ses it is nothing but a scratch on my hip where a piece of a bomb went in a few inches. He ses it was a good job I sat down into a hole head first instead of feet first when the bombers came over us or I wouldn't have any place to wear my hat any more. But don't mention this to my wife Ethel.

I guess you know she is in Los Angeles helping them make airplanes. I got a letter from her out there a few days ago and I guess she does better with them than she did when we was first married and had no dough for furniture with. She got a dry goods box off old Mannheim who runs a store in Brooklyn and made the table to surprise me and it surprised me when she put our supper on it in the camp the first night and the legs went blooey.

I suppose you have heard we are all through with the fighting here and that we got the duke. I never did get real close up where the big fighting was but it was close enough to suit me the day those bombers came over our camp and dropped those hot potatoes. I was helping fix a busted tank and if I could have got my feet into the hole as quick as I did my head I would have been all right.

MY PAL Slim Goldstone who is from Jersey City was in to see me and he ses he and me are going to get medals for capturing some Italian fellows if I will keep my trap closed and not be telling everybody just how it happened but I would not tell a lie about this even to get a medal though I would like to have one for my wife Ethel.

It was soon after the big fighting started and one day Lieut. Flynn ses to me Turp there is a truck busted down about six miles up the road so you and Gladstone go and fix it and bring it in. So Slim and me went up the road walking on our feet and sure enough there was the truck busted down like the heurens ses and the driver was gone. I guess he got tired of fixing it himself and I don't blame him because it was real muddy around there.

Well, Slim and me got busy trying to find out what was wrong with the truck when all of a came a bunch of about 30 of those Italian fellows and they had their guns with them and I thought they would surely shoot us down like dogs even though we was only spare parts for fellows but one of them ses to me in real good English hello. I ses hello and he ses my name is Peppy Lorenzo and me and my friends are sick of this war and want to give ourselves up to you.

I SES that's fine and Slim ses yes yes and you have to do is to keep hot footing it down the road until you come to a guy named Lieut. Flynn and tell him we sent you and he will take care of you. Peppy ses we are pretty tired so what about a ride in that truck. I ses the truck busted down and he ses we'll help you fix it. I used to work in a garage in Jersey City when I was a kid and I wish I had never left there and gone back to Italy.

Slim ses anybody who is from Jersey City is a friend of mine even if he is an enemy; pitch in and see if you find out what's the matter with this wagon. So those Italian fellows all put down their guns and got around the truck and Peppy was the first to find out what was wrong with it. So when we got it running we all piled in and drove them back to camp and I heard Slim telling some of our boys that night that we surrounded them and made them surrender.

But I told Lieut. Flynn how it happened he ses well all right Turp but you fellows have the nerve giving us all those extra mouths to feed when yo could have let them keep on walking until they found some outfit with more food to spare. So that is why I don't think Slim and me will get the medals. Having nothing more to say I will close.

Yours truly,

JOE TURP

P. S. I will bet my wife Ethel is prouder than any of those movie dames in Calif. only I hope they don't let her make an airplane all by herself or anyway one that would have to fly in.

Armless Girl Runs Switchboard

By The Associated Press

LONDON—An 18-year-old telephone operator who lost both arms and was badly burned during an air raid three years ago is going back to her old job at the switchboard—manipulating calls with the aid of special attachments to her artificial limbs.

The amazing story of her heroic fight after 20 operations was told recently by Dr. Edward Morgan, who attended her. The girl's name and address were not disclosed, however.

She was determined to return to work, the physicians as well as her employers thought it seemed impossible.

Finally a solution was found.

An artificial limb manufacturing firm studied the type of work she was doing and after months of experiments devised a special extension fitting for her right arm and a miniature "billiard cue rest" for the other.

Now she can plug in telephone connections and operate dial buttons as good as ever.

A woman tube mounter in a war plant perfected a process in making power tubes that saves valuable material and 400 man hours annually.

HUGE SUBSIDY FUND URGED

President Urges "Roll Back" Financing; Subsidy Plan Hit by Farm Bureau Head.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, June 15 — President Roosevelt was reported to have urged congressional leaders at a White House conference yesterday to provide between $1,500,000,000 and $2,000,000,000 in subsidies to roll back the prices of agricultural commodities to consumers.

While the President was said to have received support for this position from Democrats who attended, he was reported to have encountered sharp opposition to the proposal from Republicans, particularly senate Minority Leader McNary of Oregon.

Before the White House meeting Edward A. O'Neal, president of the American Farm Bureau Federation, told the senate banking committee today that demands of organized labor for subsidy payments to finance price rollbacks represented a "finely disguised effort to secure another unwarranted increase in wages."

Urges Wage Rollback

Appealing for legislation to prohibit a general subsidy program to decrease prices of commodities, O'Neal declared that "if any rollback is to be made it ought to be made a rollback of wages instead of prices."

The farm leader declared the food production program had been jeopardized by what he called "determined efforts of the office of proce administration (OPA) to provide bargain prices for consumers without regard to providing prices essential to secure maximum production."

"Again and again," he said, "the American farmer has been made the whipping boy to appease the unreasonable demands of organized labor leaders."

The senate banking committee which three days ago heard William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, predict "a spontaneous revolt of wage earners" unless living costs are cut, was told by O'Neal that such remarks were "most unfortunate at this time of grave national emergency."

Farmers Won't Strike

"The 6,000,000 farmres in this country are not going on strike or getting overtime beyond 40 hours," O'Neal said. "Through retention of the 40-hour week with premium pay for overtime beyond 40 hours, organized labor—supported by the administration—has prevented complete utilization of our manpower resources, contributed enormously to the inflationary spiral, and added greatly to the cost of prosecuting the war."

O'Neal charged that labor unions had threatened congressmen with election defeat unless they obey what he called "the dictates of these labor leaders."

As a result, he said, the country is "getting thoroughly aroused and angry."

"Of all groups of workers, the ones least entitled to complain are the members of organized labor unions because, in the main, their members comprise the highest paid workers who have enjoyed the greatest increase in wages," he said.

Axis Now Feeling Full Impact of U. S. Air Power

While Drew Pearson is on vacation, this daily column is being written by Max Hill, former chief of The Associated Press bureau in Tokyo.

• • •

By MAX HILL

The axis finally is feeling the full impact of America's tremendous plane production, both on land and at sea, after months of delays which seem inherent in a democracy.

And it must come as quite a shock to the Hitler-Mussolini-Tojo combine that the United Nations now have awakened to the credo expressed so aptly by a Japanese when he was criticized for the tactics of the Rising Sun Army in China.

This Japanese said tartly:

"Nobody ever has discovered a polite way to kill a man."

Our air power virtually unaided brought about the surrender of the three Italian islands in the Mediterranean—Pantelleria, Lampedusa and Linosa—but most qualified observers are convinced this will not be the case with Germany and Italy proper.

There is another phase which enters seriously into the question of mass bombing of the European continent. We lost 26 fortresses Sunday, and the British lost 24 bombers Saturday. Until a more specific announcement of damage done is released it cannot be said accurately whether the raids were worth the cost of almost 500 skilled and patiently trained men and millions of dollars worth of flying equipment.

This heavy loss might indicate, also, that the Germans have found a way to strengthen their defenses.

A less publicized but just as important phase in our air power is the work being done by patrols over the Atlantic. The danger spot in the mid Atlantic is now far better patrolled, both in the air and on the sea, than it was a few months ago.

CONG. BROWN OPPOSES EXTENDING DRIVING BAN

Heads Committee Seeking to Save Midwest from Further Cuts

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, June 15 — A committee of midwestern representatives called Secretary Ickes, the petroleum administrator for war, and other officials to a scheduled hearing today to discuss the possibility of further gasoline rationing in their home areas.

The committee's purpose is to "prevent the imposition of any unnecessary further restrictions in the use of gasoline" in the midwest.

"Despite a few unwise statements to the contrary," declared Rep. Brown (R-Ohio) the committee chairman, "this committee was not organized to fight any other group or to oppose the interest of any other section of the country. The people our committee represent are willing and ready to make any sacrifices or accept any hardships that will help win the war, or save the life of even one member of our fighting forces.

"However, they will not be pleased with, nor will they gracefully accept, any unnecessary restrictions in the use of gasoline simply to satisfy the wishes of those who are unfortunate enough to be living in a shortage area and want the rest of the country to suffer on the basis of 'misery loves company.'"

Congressman Brown represents the Seventh Ohio district which includes Union county.

HELICOPTER AIR BUS SERVICE VISUALIZED

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, June 15 —A plan to adapt present bus terminals and bus garages for use as landing ports and hangars in a nationwide helicopter air bus service was advanced today when an application for this type of airline was filed with the civil aeronautics board by the Greyhound corporation, operators of highway buses.

The application said that Greyhound lines proposed to operate helicopters or similar aircraft to provide passenger, mail and express service over their present bus routes.

"Our studies have shown a definite need on the part of the nation for the type of air transportation we propose to operate," C. E. Wickman, company president, said today.

Although lack of equipment at present probably will make the air bus service a post-war project, Wickman said several helicopters may be made available for experimental use "in the near future."

The air bus service, Wickman added, would not compete substantially with existing airlines. Instead, he said, the air buses would supplement transcontinental and global airliners by providing quick and convenient means of reaching major airports in metropolitan cities.

Jack Brown Drives Chuck Signal To Stake Victory

Mansfield-Owned Trotter Wins Second Feature.

By LOREN W. TIBBALS
Marion Star Sports Editor

CHUCK SIGNAL, a bay gelding owned by S. S. Miller of Pennington, N. J., and driven by "Two-Hole" Jack Brown of Allentown, Pa., copped the 2:18 trot stake feature of last night's Little Grand Circuit harness racing program at the county fairground track.

Last night's nine-dash card, a supreme accomplishment from a racing standpoint alone, was watched by slightly fewer than 1,500 patrons race officials said. Showers which fell up to within 45 minute of starting time discouraged hundreds of Marionites from attending the program and heavy rains in the neighboring area served as an added restriction on

Despite the heavy downpour track officials and race sponsors succeeded in getting the track in shape by starting time.

Wins First Heat

The opening heat of last night's stake event was won by Hambletonian candidate, Dutchess Hanover, owned by Cleo A. Young of Timmonsville, S. C., and driven by Carl Hatchell of the same town. The contender for the $40,000 trotting purse won the opening mile in 2:14¾. Hatchell expects to race the remarkable bay filly at a majority of the Ohio racing plants before heading for eastern playgrounds later in the season.

The eventual stake winner, Chuck Signal, finished third to the Hambletonian hopeful in the initial test but breezed in ahead of a field of eight other star trotters to win the final heats. To win the second heat of the feature Brown hustled Chuck Signal all the way from fifth place at the half. The New Jersey-owned gelding grabbed the lead coming into the final stretch and finished a length and a half in front of Betty Worthy, owned by Saunders Mills of Toledo and piloted by Jakie Mahoney of Shelbyville, Ind.

The third heat was much the same as the second mile except that Brown did not forge into the lead until within 50 yards of the wire. Chuck Signal was in third place at the half behind Dutchess Hanover (Hatchell) and Betty Worthy (Mahoney). Ellis A. Louis Huber's Cincinnati sensation, was the first to make a bid in the second half, going into the lead at the start of the back stretch. But Dutchess Hanover regained the lead half-way down the stretch and held it for a quarter of a mile before Brown raced up on the outside to win by a half a length.

Mansfield Winner

Last night's supplementary attraction the 2:15 trot was won by Princess Mite, a brown mare owned by Roy Dickson of Mansfield and driven by Canton's Bob Plaxico. The Ohio-owned victor copped the first and second heats in 2:13 and 2:12½, respectively, and finished second in the third heat won by Charming Sister, owned by C. H. Bowen of Columbus and driven by Gabe Cartinal of Hanover.

The 2:25 pace, matching seven fine slow class pacers, was won by Judge Patron, owned and driven by Harry Short of Washington C. H. Short won the second and third heats after finishing third to Sweet Mission, driven by Hatnell, in the opening mile.

The heat win gave Cartinal a total of six heat victories. Next among the fairground drivers is Harry Short of Washington C. H., with five heat wins. Indians and Tigers To Open 3 Game Series

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, June 15 — The Cleveland Indians, who escaped the American league cellar by splitting a double header with St. Louis Sunday, engage the third-place Detroit Tigers at the stadium tonight in the opener of a three-game series.

Southpaw Al Smith is the Indians' hurler while Manager Steve O'Neill is expected to nominate his ace left hander, Hal Newhouser.

ROCKY MOUNTAIN SCHOOLS PLAN FOR 1943 GRID SEASON

Colleges Face Many Problems But Feel They Can Make Some Showing Next Fall.

[illegible] of a series dealing with the prospects for college [illegible] in the various parts of the nation.

By The Associated Press

DENVER June 15—By dint of super freshmen, naval students and left-over equipment, there'll be college football in the Rockies in the fall—if it doesn't interfere with prosecution of the war.

To date, the 1943 mountain states conference stands as it was drawn. Three of the six member schools are getting ready to play. The others can't make up their minds, but they haven't definitely crossed off the sport for the duration.

Viewed through rose-colored field glasses, the situation by schools is Co-champion Utah—Will play if possible and believes it's possible.

Co-champion Colorado — But definitely, the Navy came to the rescue.

Utah State—We'll be represented.

Brigham Young — Not sure; probably could whip up a team of 1943 high school graduates.

Wyoming—If the Army changes its mind and lets soldier-students play, yes.

Colorado State — Same as Wyoming.

The conference coaches and athletic directors say public interest, even now, indicates football would be justified.

Coach E. L. (Dick) Romney, dean of mountain grid mentors, is getting ready for his 25th season at Utah State on this premise: "We believe in football and furthermore we believe that it is as worthwhile to play it during war times as well as during times of peace, unless it interferes with the war effort."

Brewers Win, Land In Tie for Second Position

By The Associated Press

The Milwaukee Brewers, gaining fame as one of the most dangerous batting clubs in the American Association, have won 12 of their last 17 games—scoring 30 runs in their last two victories—to skip into a tie with Minneapolis for second place.

The Brewers last night gave Toledo its worst licking of the year, 15 to 1.

The Brewers' win, plus Kansas City's 6 to 3 victory over Columbus, enabled Milwaukee to soar into a second place tie from the second division while the Redbirds and Toledo became locked for fourth.

Don Hendrickson held off Columbus by sifting eight hits while the Blues went to work for 14 blows off a pair of Redbird hurlers. This batting spree was paced by Jack Salzgaver with a triple, double and single, and Al Lyons with a double and two singles.

Weather caused postponement last night of two games, Louisville at St. Paul and Indianapolis at Minneapolis.

Stephens and Dahlgren Still Setting Majors' Batting Pace

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, June 15—If you're busy today checking up on how much income tax you have to rush to the collector, it won't take you much time to check up on the major leagues' leading hitters.

Those same two sluggers who have been on top for weeks, Vernon Stephens of the St. Louis Browns and Ellsworth Dahlgren of the Philadelphia Phillies, still are holding the fort.

Stephens' average today was exactly the same as a week ago, .368, twenty-nine points ahead of Cleveland's Oris Hockett, who continued as the second leading hitter in the American League.

Dahlgren's pace slipped slightly from .367 to .359, but he was able to maintain a three-point edge over the fast-rising Harry Walker of the St. Louis Cardinals. Little Dixie extended his consecutive game batting streak to 21 during the week and increased his average from .348 to .356, thereby moving from third to second in the rankings.

Stan Musial of the Cardinals, who was the runnerup last week with .352, skidded to .333 and fourth place behind Frank McCormick of Cincinnati.

In the American League Johnny Lindell of the New York Yankees, who was third last week, also went into a tailspin that cut his mark from .317 to .294 and placed him sixth among the hitters in the junior circuit.

But the National League had to take in marks of .278 to count the same number of leaders.

Photo-finish equipment, "musts" at many harness racing plants for several years but being used here for the first time in connection with the running of Marion's 15-night Little Grand Circuit meeting has proved its worth already although the meet is only four days old.

On at least a dozen occasions since the meet started last Thursday night presiding Judge Joe McGraw of Washington, Pa., has ordered pictures of the finish, sometimes to decide the winner and other times to determine the place or show horse.

Last night was a typical night for operators of the "Eye in the Sky" camera being used here. Three times Judge McGraw ordered pictures and each time a clear cut picture was submitted to clearly indicate race results.

Inventor Here

While many of the "findings" of the camera have not exactly met with the whole-hearted approval of mutuel fans, the camera is the only sure-thing in harness racing. The unit in use here has been approved by state racing commissions throughout the country. Challenged at a Pacific coast track shortly after its inception a few years ago, the Eye in the Sky camera passed every rigid test setup by its agitators. From a variety of angles pictures of race finishes were made and in each case the Eye in the Sky camera met each qualification with flying colors.

Inventor of the first photo-finish equipment and especially the Eye in the Sky camera is Aaron Harvey of Coral Gables, Fla. Mr. Harvey came to Marion last Tuesday to supervise installation of the camera and expects to remain here for several days before heading for one or another of the 14 tracks where his cameras will be operating simultaneously within the next three weeks.

Harvey, formerly a motion picture cameraman, is half owner of the Eye in the Sky Photo-Finish Service. His partner is William H. Johnston, general manager of Sportsman's park in Chicago.

Harvey's first camera was completed in 1932. First photo-finish pictures were taken in 1932 at Florida. He worked for three and a half years to perfect a camera similar in every detail to the one now in use. Not until 1935 was the present camera used to determine horse race winners. Shortly after its debut at harness tracks, a number of state racing commissions approved its use as official to determine race results in the event of close finishes.

Uses Strip Film

The camera in use here is equipped with a 1.5 four inch focal length lense. However, Mr. Harvey's firm uses 46 different types of lenses depending on the size of the track, types of racing and a number of other factors. Because of the shortage of film the camera has been equipped with a device which will accommodate strip film. Before the war Eye in the Sky used movie film exclusively.

The strip film is mounted on a cylinder motivated by a small electric motor. The motor is turned on as the horses approach the finish line and as a result a panoramic view of the finish is obtained. The entire race is pictured on one small negative. For use of the judges, however, only the finish is enlarged. In most cases a negative measuring one-half by seven-eighths of an inch is "blown up" to seven by 11 inches.

A processing darkroom has been built in the middle section of the grandstand immediately beneath the roof. This "bird cage like structure" will not be removed at the end of the spring meeting, Mr. Harvey said, but will be left here for use in future meetings. Development of the negative and printing of an enlargement requires about a minute. A picture of the finish is furnished the judges within 90 seconds after the finish.

Four "Fresna" lamps, each equipped with a 5,000 watt lamp, are used to light up a narrow section on each side of the finish wire. These lamps are basically the same as those used in the making of motion pictures. Replacement bulbs for each of the units cost $26.

Assisting Mr. Harvey in the operation of the camera here is Phillip Ranalli of Pawtucket, R. I. He joined the Eye in the Sky staff about two months ago.

REDS HUMBLED BY CARDS; TO TRY AGAIN

McCormick Turns in Fourth Home Run of Year.

By The Associated Press

ST. LOUIS, June 15—The Cincinnati Reds go after the St. Louis Cardinals twice today in an effort to pull them down from the pinnacle of the National loop.

The Cincinnati athletes got off on the wrong foot yesterday when Mort Cooper bested Ray Starr 5 to 3.

Up to the sixth, both flingers allowed but four hits, then weather interferred for 14 minutes and when the teams took the field again, the champs leaped on Starr's offerings for four runs on two intentional passes and four solid base blows, the payoff being Catcher Walker Cooper's triple with the bases loaded.

The Cards picked up another run off Bob Malloy, rookie right-hander in the seventh, before Lefty Clyde Shoun took them in hand.

The Reds scored their runs off Cooper in the final two frames. Frank McCormick blasted his fourth homer of the year in the eighth after Lonnie Frey opened the round with a double.

In the ninth, Eric Tipton hit a triple followed by Estel Crabtree's single to score the Reds' final run before Bert Haas pinch-hit into a game-ending double play.

Manager Southworth, who always seems to have a guy around who is building himself a consecutive hitting streak, continued in that enviable class today as Harry Walker, little brother of Brooklyn's Dixie Walker, hit safely in his twenty-first consecutive game. Previously Stan Musial and Whitey Kurowski compiled hitting streaks of 22 games each.

Bettina Knocks Out Brooks in Record Time

By The Associated Press

PHILADELPHIA, June 15 — Cpl. Melio Bettina, who makes no secret of the fact that after the war he'd like to exchange his MP armband for the belt of heavyweight champion Joe Louis, had a new reason today to believe that he can do it—a left hand punch that would fell an ox.

The former lightheavyweight champion exhibited that punch last night, ending a year's absence from the ring by knocking out Lou Brooks of Wilmington, Del., in a minute and 49 seconds, so fast that most of the 6,543 spectators (gross gate $13,489.75) had to buy a newspaper to find out what happened.

Vander Meer's 2 Straight No-Hit Games 5 Years Old

By The Associated Press

ST. LOUIS, Mo., June 15—Nothers are harder on fans and teammates than on pitchers, says Johnny Vander Meer — who should know. He gained baseball fame by pulling two such games in five days.

Johnny was recalling those two consecutive no-hit, no-run victories today, the fifth anniversary of the second game.

By pitching a 3-0 shutout June 11, 1938, against Boston and an 11-0 June 15 against Brooklyn at night, Vander Meer, then a 23-year-old Cincinnati freshman, set a major league record. Never before or since has a major league pitcher clouted two no-hitters consecutively or even in one season.

Baseball immortality, even in the minds of the game's immortals, fades quickly and the husky, blond left-hander has no idea it was five years ago he made the record books.

"It's water over the dam," he grinned.

Against Mort Cooper of the Cardinals he opened the Cincinnati home season this year with a two-hit shutout victory, then picked up another two-hitter several days later.

Forfeit and Weather Shelve Softball Events

Second forfeit game in as many weeks in the Sunday School league took place last night at Garfield park as St. Mary was forced to accept an automatic 9 to 0 loss to Greenwood. The Saints had only one player on the field at the scheduled starting time of 6:30. Greenwood mustered seven, minimum number for a regulation contest.

The game between Presbyterian and Epworth, scheduled for McKinley park, was postponed because of unfavoralbe weather conditions. This tilt will be played sometime later in the season.

The second event was bait casting for accuracy which was won by Marble with a score of 87. This was not good enough to top the record of 91 set by 12 year old Richard Jerew last year. Young Jerew was in the accuracy event Monday night but ran into some backcasting difficulty and could achieve a score of only 70. Walter Bailey finished with a 79 to place second in this event.

Conklin Double Winner

Forest Conklin knocked off the first of his double-record crowns in the next event, which was fly casting for distance. Conklin bettered by five feet the old record of 60 feet set by A. M. Young in 1941. Marble, who was the only other contestant in this event, naturally was runner-up to Conklin.

Conklin shattered a record established by himself last year in the fly casting for accuracy competition. He totaled 87 points, a mark seven better than his former record of 80. Marble had 78 in this feature to win second prize.

Last activity on the program Monday night was bait casting for distance and accuracy. H. B. Wells of White Oaks road won this event with a score of 90. Lloyd Ledley pressed Wells with a second place effort of 88. Old record for the distance-accuracy competition was L. Getts' 85 set last year.

Prizes Awarded

Prizes for the winners and runner-up in each event were merchandise, consisting mostly of fishing equipment. Bob Axe headed the tourney prizes committee, which was composed of Francis Blake and Dick Probst as other members.

Grounds committee for the tournament consisted of John Peacock, Ray Balderson, Fred Warner and Vic Dorris. Competition judges were Bob Axe, Francis Blake, John Peacock, Ray Balderson and Fred Warner. Bob Cunningham served as entry and registration clerk of the tournament.

Following completion of the tourney Monday night Mr. Gabler and Mr. Peacock announced that the Lions' club bass competition would be held again this season. Award of a steel bait casting rod will be given to the angler who catches the largest bass in Marion county or vicinity waters during the 1943 season. This prize will be given Dec. 31, when the season officially ends. The Turner Hardware Co. will act as official weigher for all bass turned in.

This event was started in 1940 by the club but was discontinued last year. In 1941, largest bass caught weighed 3 pounds and 3 ounces.

Firemen, Police Seek Pay Raise

council meetings, even though asked to be present.

Letter from Luse

Council heard from Mr. Luse again on alleged juvenile gambling in Marion in the form of a letter explaining that he was out of the city on business and unable to attend the meeting. "You are hereby notified," Mr. Luse wrote, "that gambling as yet flourishes among minors and will not be tolerated any further. Just this week a boy made $5 mowing lawns and lost same on crooked punch boards. The safety director has failed in his duties in more than one way. First, gambling of minors; second, thin blankets on the streets; third, catch basins in many sections of our city have not been cleaned in one year; fourth, the week of June 7 he had two trucks broken down plus the city mowing tractor. He issues orders to repair the tractor so they can mow along the curbs. I ask you councilmen, is it fair to hold eight men idle while the trucks which pick up our garbage lie idle? What is why filth and limbs of trees are lying on our streets and alleys. I have seen ladies clean the streets in front of their homes. Is this their job? Also to clean catch basins? I ask for the resignation of the safety director now."

Mr. Luse two weeks ago made his first complaint about alleged juvenile gambling in Marion and shortly afterward announced his candidacy for mayor. Council referred the letter to Safety-Service Director Caldwell with a request for a report at its next regular meeting.

Meter Payment

Council's action authorizing payment for the parking meters will involve spending about $5,575 to complete payment for 226 meters, the second group installed by the city. This represents the balance due on the meters after credit had been given for the monthly lease payments the city has already made. Mayor Snare said there was a balance of $11,484 in the parking meter fund as of May 31 from which the payment could be made. The meters have been in use about a year.

The city garbage and rubbish department problems came before council in two separate matters last night. One was an ordinance fixing a schedule of sick leaves for employes. This schedule, previously agreed on by the council and worker committees, provides five days a year of sick leave for employes in service from three to six months, seven days a year for those in service from six to 12 months, and 10 days for those in service a year or more. The workers are to receive pay while on these sick leaves, but must show a doctor's certificate for any such time off.

Complaint from Workers

The other matter from the department came in a verbal complaint from Edward Shafer, spokesman for the workers, who said the city who had not fulfilled its agreement to give the men 44 hours of work each week, with time and a half pay for all over 40 hours of work each week. He said the men had been ordered to work only 40 hours weekly. He also complained that the leaking containers the men are now obliged to use caused "garbage juice" to drip over them, necessitating changes of clothing at the city barn before the workers could go to their homes.

Councilmen declared it was their intention that the 44-hour week be followed, but said they couldn't force Safety-Service Director Caldwell to employ the men that many hours. However, Councilman Earle Johnson declared council would take some further action if a council committee meeting with the workers and other officials fails to produce a workable agreement. He pointed out that the 44-hour week was set up for the dual purpose of giving the men opportunity to earn a little extra money and to get action on neglected service department work. He declared catch basins in the city hadn't been cleaned in two years and that there "is plenty of work to be done."

This was followed by a series of complaints about street and sidewalk conditions in the city. Councilman Barnhard commented that Mr. Caldwell had been asked to report at last night's meeting about some previous complaints, but had not appeared. "I can't understand why he doesn't either act on these complaints or let us know the reason," Councilman Slack commented.

Some of the conditions mentioned by councilmen as needing attention included chuck holes on Fles avenue, rough railroad crossing on Davids street just north of Columbia, bad sidewalk at Blaine and Columbia, chuck on Kensington place, holes in Mt. Vernon avenue at Reed avenue, settling of an excavation on North Main street at Fairground, bad pavement on Kenmore avenue at Westwood and on Sharp street at Bigwin. Dust from the Universal Cooler Corp. parking lot, the basis of a complaint received by one councilman, was reported eliminated in the last few days by oiling the lot.

Councilman Wilhelm reported Mrs. Frank Tavenner of Kensington place has asked that an alley between Kensington and Spencer street, now grown up with trees and planted in gardens, be opened and cleaned. It was explained a vacant lot she previously had used to obtain access to a coal shed had been sold. Opening of the alley would involve removal of a tree. The street and alley committee was asked to investigate.

Councilman Slack complained that a street light on Leader street, just north of the overhead railroad bridge, had been ordered moved several weeks ago but as yet had not been moved.

Public Response To WPB Plea for Typewriters Lags

The drive to secure typewriters for the use of the men at the fighting front is lagging, according to the directors of the local drive, J. Wendell Wiant, manager of Wiant's book store at 120 South Main street, and H. A. Johnson, manager of the Adding Machine & Typewriter Exchange at 126 Court street.

Neither Mr. Wiant nor Mr. Johnson are satisfied with the number of purchases they have made so far. Many more typewriters are needed by the service groups in the combat areas.

The factories can't make them—haven't made a typewriter since Oct. 31, 1941. They must keep on making guns and shells and plane parts for the duration. Therefore these seriously needed typewriters must come from the industries, schools, offices and homes of the land.

The WPB and the treasury department have united to direct a typewriter collection among the ranks of American civilians to help relieve the serious shortage. This vicinity is called on for 300 machines in this emergency and some schools and industries have already responded, but more are urgently needed.

NOTICE:

Elizabeth Exton and Wm. Exton, her husband, whose places of residence are unknown and cannot be ascertained, will take notice that on the 30th day of April, 1943, the plaintiff, Herbert R. Ford, filed his petition against them in the Common Pleas Court of Marion County, Ohio, the same being Cause No. 27412 in said Court, for the foreclosure of certain real estate in said petition described, to-wit:

Situated in the County of Marion in the State of Ohio, and in the Township of Montgomery and bounded and described as follows:

Beginning at a point in the middle of the public highway three hundred and eighty five (385) feet west by south from the northeast corner of Montgomery Township, Marion County, Ohio; thence west by south thirty two (32) feet along the middle of said highway; thence one hundred (100) feet south by east; thence thirty two (32) feet east by north; thence one hundred (100) feet north by west to the point of beginning, being a part of the northeast quarter of Section One (1), of Montgomery Township, Marion County, Ohio.

Also, the following: Known as south of Range No. Thirteen (13) being a part of the northeast quarter of Section one (1), in Township number five (5), commencing in the center of the highway, nineteen (19) rods southwesterly of the northeast corner of Montgomery Township, commencing formerly at Jacob Schultz northwest corner. In the middle of the highway, thence running southwesterly seventy three (73) rest; thence southeast one hundred (100) feet from the center of said highway; thence southwest sixty (60) feet; thence northeast twenty (20) feet; thence northeast parallel with the sixty foot line, a distance of sixty six (66) feet; thence northwest parallel with the aforesaid one hundred foot line, a distance of about one hundred and twenty (120) feet to the center of the aforesaid public highway; thence southwesterly on the center of said public highway six (6) feet.

Reserving however, for driveway purposes for the owner on the East, his heirs and assigns forever, the joint use of said six foot strip which is one hundred and twenty (120) feet long for driveway purposes. Said driveway strip being the east part of the lands herein conveyed subject to said use.

There is also granted to said Grantees their heirs and assigns forever, the joint use with the adjoining owner on the east, his heirs and assigns forever, the right to use for driveway purposes only, a strip six (6) feet wide and one hundred twenty (120) feet long, lying immediately to and adjoining the aforesaid six (6) foot strip on the east.

It being the intention of this deed in addition to conveying the absolute title to part of the aforesaid lands to convey all their right, titles and interest in the twelve (12) foot driveway established between Charles M. Cookston and wife and the said Herbert R. Ford. See Deed Records of Marion County, Ohio, Vol. 169, Page 148, to which reference is here made.

It being the intention of this deed, in so far as said driveway is concerned to convey to said Grantees their heirs and assigns forever all the right, title and interest Grantors had in said driveway established by the aforesaid recorded deed.

The prayer of said petition is for the foreclosure of said real estate and for other equitable relief. Said defendants are required to answer said petition on the 24th day of July, 1943, or judgment will be taken against them.

Herbert R. Ford, Plaintiff.

STOCKS AGAIN MOVE UPWARD

Rails Among Leaders in Rallies Following Tumble of Prices Monday.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, June 15—Mild and selective rallies among rails in today's stock market suffered leaders generally after an early extension of Monday's tumble.

Buyers returned here and there on the thought that the drop of the previous session, widest since April 9, may have put the list in a healthier technical position.

Come-back tendencies were shown by N. Y. Central, Bethlehem, U. S. Rubber and International Harvester. Laggards included U. S. Steel, American Telephone, Allied Chemical, Sears Roebuck, Chrysler, General Motors and Anaconda.

Boardrooms studied the federal reserve summary which disclosed that consumer credit outstanding had fallen $4,500,000,000 in the past 18 months.

WHEAT PRICES FIRM, TRADING QUIETER

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, June 15—Trading in wheat quieted down toward the close today as the market firmed after early offerings were absorbed. Traders said there was evidence of mill buying on the setbacks and there was little disposition to press the selling side. Oats also were firm in the face of an active demand and offerings continued scarce. Rye strengthened with wheat.

2,100 LISTED IN WEEK AT PARKS

Registration of Boys and Girls Reported for Start of Recreation Program.

Some 2,100 boys and girls were registered in the four city parks last week, the first week in the newly established Marion recreation program.

Of this number, 600 were registered at Lincoln park, 500 at McKinley, 450 at the combined Oakland Heights and Marion Steam Shovel unit, and 500 at Garfield park.

Victor Dorris, city recreation director, estimated an average of about 100 children per day participated in recreational activities in each of the parks last week. In addition to the children actually registered by the park directors, many adults were active in athletics of one form or another in the evenings.

Saturday Figure Low

Saturday proved to be an unsatisfactory day in the matter of attendance. Only a handful of boys and girls were present then and as a result Dorris may discontinue recreational activities on Saturdays for the rest of the summer. He will give the program a trial for the next two Saturdays and if attendance is negligible, the program will not function on that day.

Several car-loads of sand amounting to between 25 and 28 tons arrived in the city last week. This sand will be used in the sand-boxes in each park for enjoyment of the younger recreational enthusiasts.

Basketball goals which were ordered by Dorris from an out-of-town concern last month are not available, as manufacture of them for civilian use is out for the duration. However, Dorris expects local tradesmen will make the goals.

Popularity Rating

Most popular among the sports and games introduced into the four parks last week were softball, football, volleyball, paddle tennis, horseshoes, and croquet.

This week, Dorris is acquainting the boys and girls with the fundamentals of rope-skipping. This sport, which develops the coordination and stamina, will be employed by the park directors as a conditioner for about the next two weeks.

Tennis courts in both McKinley and Lincoln parks are now open to anyone wishing to play. Dorris believes that a majority of participants in this sport will come from boys and girls of high school age and from adult ranks.

DEMANDS RENEWED FOR U. S. FOOD CZAR

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, June 15—The battle of the food price front rolled back to the White House today with new congressional demands for appointment of a one-man boss over the war-time bread basket.

As labor and farm leaders squared off for another skirmish before the senate banking committee, Chairman Fulmer (D-SC) led a bi-partisan delegation to a White House conference with the aim of convincing President Roosevelt something should be done at once to consolidate the food authority which Fulmer said is "scattered all over the landscape."

OPA HEAD ASSERTS SUBSIDIES ESSENTIAL

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, June 15—Price Administrator Prentiss M. Brown said today the administration cannot live up to congressional price instructions without payment of subsidies.

Addressing a conference of wholesale and retail food representatives, Brown departed from a prepared speech to reply to congressional critics of the current butter-meat-coffee subsidy program.

"Congress has in the two price control statutes," Brown said, "given us three principles to guide the work of price control. These acts say that primary prices—the prices to farmers—must not be less than parity. They also require that prices shall be fixed and stabilized at the level of Sept. 15, 1942. And in addition these laws require that we provide fair and equitable margins for processors, middlemen, et cetera.

"With these principles, we knew the program could not work out without the employment of government funds, and very wisely it was provided in the act that subsidies could be paid.

"Think of those restrictions again, add them up and you can't come out without subsidies."

Brown also voiced what his aides considered an indirect reply to a suggestion from former President Hoover that office of price administration (OPA) food controls be shifted to the secretary of agriculture.

Without mentioning that Hoover was the food administrator of the first World war, Brown, told the food meeting, "I can assure you that a much better job of controlling food prices has been done in this war than in the first World war."

In his prepared address to the food industry representatives Brown declared that OPA's new food price control program "must work" if the nation is to avoid a major defeat on the home front.

The city stands on the Rhine-Herne canal and at the junction of railways to Duisburg, Dortmund and Hamm, making it an important communications center.

Also during the night, it was announced officially, a great fleet of lighter RAF planes bombed, cannonaded and machinegunned rail and water transport and airfields just back of the coast from Holland to northern France.

Nazi hit-run night raiders loosed bombs on suburban areas of London in the first of two brief post-midnight alerts, killing seven persons and trapping many others in their wrecked homes.

MACARTHUR PLANES BLAST AT RABAUL

By The Associated Press

Gen. Douglas MacArthur's headquarters announced today far-ranging U. S. Flying Fortresses and Liberators dropped nearly 50,000 pounds of explosives on the Japanese keystone base at Rabaul, New Britain, and blasted a 4,000-ton enemy transport in Humboldt bay, Dutch New Guinea.

Two direct hits with 500-pound bombs left the ship in flames.

Other allied warplanes sank or damaged 11 Japanese barges along the New Guinea coast, and also bombed the enemy strongholds at Kalmana, Babo and Tuam island.

On the Burma front, American and British planes continued their unrelenting attack on Japanese occupation forces, bombing the big enemy base at Akyab on the Bay of Bengal coast, machine-gunning Japanese troops, and blasting railways.

NEWSPRINT CUT SEEN AS LIKELY THIS YEAR

Official Warns Drastic Curtailment May Come.

By The Associated Press

BOSTON, June 15—A prediction of drastic curtailment in newsprint use may be forced upon American newspapers before the end of this year was made today by Warren Morgan, assistant to the associate director of the labor production division of the WPB in an address before the 10th annual American Newspaper Guild convention.

"The newsprint supply is dwindling and dwindling rapidly," Morgan said. "The outlook is none too good."

He told the 125 delegates that the previously estimated newsprint requirement for 1943 was 3,536,795 tons, but that the estimated production would be only 3,470,000 tons. At the present rate of consumption, he said, about 3,700,000 ton would be used, considerably exceeding both the requirement and supply estimates.

The newspaper publishers, he added, were allowed to use 100 per cent of the 1941 net paid circulation, which he figured would amount to a 10 per cent curtailment in the use of newsprint. However, he asserted, approximately 400 newspapers had appealed to the WPB for permission to use more paper than was allowed under the ruling. In almost all cases, he said, permission was granted.

Pitfalls of Love

By ADELE GARRISON

THE eyes of my father and Philip Veritzen met in a challenge to which the great theatrical manager yielded first.

"Of course, Charles," he said, "I will remember. But, how—"

He broke off, and my father smiled at him.

"I'm hoping it won't be so long now," he said, "especially as some of the actors in this underworld drama, are—shall I say?—pressing their roles a bit."

"You might call it that," Philip said gravely, though I suspected he had a twinkle in his eye.

"What I want to do with some of the lesser conspirators such as Stephen Redfield," my father continued as though Veritzen had not spoken, "yes, and Ruth Hayes although I am sure she is closer to the inner circle than Redfield—is to involve them so flagrantly in serious crimes that I will have weapons in my hands for dealing with them."

Smiles Grimly

He paused, and a grim smile touched the corners of his lips.

"You might describe it as a sort of blackmail," he said, "but I have no compunction in dealing with rattlesnakes."

"I should imagine," Philip said dryly, "that impersonation, forgery, theft and blackmail would make a formidable list of swords to suspend over their heads."

"Yes, it isn't bad," my father said. "And now, if you don't mind, Philip, I'll leave you to the discussion of that question you wish to ask Margaret. You'll excuse me, dearest?"

He bowed to us both, and went through the camouflaged door to the adjoining suite.

The producer of my play looked at me intently when the door had closed behind my father.

"Don't be afraid to tell me anything that has happened," he said. "Remember, I gave my word to your father that I would keep the promise I made him no matter what you told me."

"Before I tell you what I meant a few minutes ago," I said steadily, "would you mind telling me what was the promise you made my father?"

For an instant his eyebrows narrowed into a frown, then relaxed again.

"I think you already know it," he said, "but I can understand why you would wish to be sure it covered what you are going to tell me. It is simply that I have promised your father, most reluctantly, I admit, that I would do nothing about dismissing Stephen Redfield from the cast of your play until he no longer needs Steve as a decoy."

I put another question. "No matter what Steve does?"

He considered for a second.

"If it were too flagrant an offense, I would attempt to change your father's mind," he answered presently. "If I did not succeed, I would keep my word to him."

Explains Her Meaning

"Then," I said, "I will tell you what I meant awhile ago by saying that I did not wish Noel to know about this message to Olina."

I paused, taking time to choose my words with care. Then I said:

"He would have to know that Steve had forged the letter to Olina, and he already is so wrought up about Steve, that I would fear the effect upon him of knowing this latest performance of the man he detests so violently."

He thought that over, then put another swift question.

"You say he is so wrought up about Steve. Has anything happened recently to upset him?"

"Ah!—here it comes!" I thought, dismayed. Then, reassured by the thought of his promise to my father, I told him of Steve's activities of the morning.

He frowned as he listened to my story of Steve's complaints to me about Constance Bridgeman's stealing the show from him, and his gloomy prediction that Mary would lose her public to Constance if she stayed out of the cast too long. To my relief, he laughed when I gave him that last choice tidbit.

"If it weren't so irritating, it would be amusing," he said. "But tell me,—why should Noel be so concerned about this when Steve didn't go to Mary with it?"

"He would have gone to Mary, if I hadn't put a guard over him," I said.

For Wednesday, June 16

A SUDDEN turn of events may have a revolutionary effect on the life, its intimate contacts and its fortunes. It is a time for pushing toward high and cherished goals. It may take some undercover wire pulling to attain objectives, but be alert to schemes or illicit transactions. Sign papers with caution, and the ultimate results may be high favor or preferment from the public. The broad and ambitious scope should net great results in business, financial and strictly personal affairs. Aim high.

Those whose birthday it is may anticipate a year of far reaching accomplishment. Ambitions seriously worked for should attract substantial support from those in power and authority. The personal equations should not be overlooked, in all worthy ambitions, but be ready for surprise attack and irregular or intriguing enticements. A time for mobility, expansion and seeking personal popularity.

YOUR HEALTH

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

Blood Tests.

In making a complete examination in order to arrive at a diagnosis of the patient, the examination of the blood is very important. The blood goes everywhere in the body; it is a sort of common reservoir for all chemical reactions that occur, as well as reactions against infection and contagious diseases.

Examination of the blood to see what the anatomical condition is also has its importance. The blood is formed in the bone marrow and the cells float for a few weeks or months and are then destroyed in the spleen or liver.

If some sort of infection—a severe influenza or other weakening disease—comes along, there is a depression of the bone marrow, the number of cells formed will diminish and we have a condition of anemia. This is an important indication for treatment in that various foods, vitamins, iron and liver should be given in order to bring the blood up to normal.

Besides the red cells there are also the white cells or phagocytes in the blood, which appear any place where there is inflammation or infected cuts or burns and which do their part in killing off these invaders.

In a case of appendicitis or pneumonia the physician often wants to know whether the patient's defenses are responding properly and there is no better way to tell than to find out how many leucocytes are in the circulating blood. Whereas normally there are about 8,000, in the case of pneumonia or appendicitis there may be 20,000 or 40,000. This condition, known as leucocytosis, is a good indication but it is also a method of measuring the favorable response of the body.

Fortunately the technical methods which determine the number of red cells and white cells are very simple and can be done without any laboratory equipment other than a microscope and a counting chamber.

But these anatomical features of the blood are only the beginning of what we would like to know about it. Within the last 25 years methods of making a chemical examination of the blood have improved so that we can determine very accurately just what chemicals are floating around and in what concentrations. For instance, in the case of diabetes where the starch metabolism is disturbed and the body does not utilize starch and sugar, it accumulates in the blood. This we can measure.

Again, in cases of Bright's disease where the kidney is not functioning normally, the substances which it ordinarily throws off such as urea, creatinine and other nitrogenous substances, accumulate in the blood stream. Normally the nonprotein nitrogen of the blood should not be more than 40; in Bright's disease it may be as high as 60 or 80 and the amount of retention is an indication of the functional capacity of the kidneys.

This can be adjusted and helped by adjusting the diet and is valuable from the standpoint of treatment as well as diagnosis.

In gout there is a disturbance of uric acid metabolism and the uric acid content of the blood can be very accurately measured and the severity of the gouty condition determined by this reading.

American submarines damaged in distant waters often receive repair parts by airplane to enable them to return to service within a few days.

LITTLE HOOTY HULKINS WAS THE BEST-LOOKIN' KID IN OUR CLASS. I WONDER WHAT EVER HAPPENED TO HIM?
IT'S PERSONALITY THAT COUNTS, TOOTS.
HMM-M-SOMEONE IS AT THE DOOR.

NO, I CAN'T SEEM TO PLACE YOU.
HOOTY HULKINS! I RECOGNIZED YOU RIGHT AWAY!

WHERE ARE YOU GOING, DADDY?
YOUR MOTHER WANTS ME TO RUN OVER TO HER BROTHER'S HOUSE AND SEE THE VICTORY GARDEN HE HAS STARTED!
I'M GLAD TO KNOW HE REALIZES WE ARE AT WAR—AND IS AT LEAST DOING A LITTLE TO HELP!
OH-OH! MUST HAVE KNOWN IT!
HELLO MAGGIE—I STOPPED TO SEE YOUR BROTHER'S GARDEN—I THINK IT'S "VICTORY" INSTEAD OF GARDEN
